Indian Territory Declared Imperative—State Courts Have No Jurisdiction Over Executive Officers of the United States.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

St. PAUL, May 6.—In the case of the late scions of Huguenot in Pop. County, the son and daughter of a detective employed by the State Attorney, Judge Nelsen, in the United States District Court, has filed an opinion sustaining the demurrer of the defendants that Pop. County is wholly under the jurisdiction of the State so far as relates to the authority attempted to be exercised. The seduce and libel were made under the Chippewa Treaty of 1868. The Judge recites that at the time of that treaty, the jurisdiction of the State over all the lands within its boundaries, with the exception of those reserved to the Indians, was complete; so far as it interferes with the internal or domestic commerce of the State, or abridges the rights of its citizens, or withdraws the jurisdiction of the State from any part of the country, is in conflict with the sovereignty of the State. Therefore the seventh article of that treaty is inoperative, till the acts of the State are obtained therefrom. He orders that the property of the Indians be held in trust, and that the same be sold at auction, with the proceeds to be distributed at Crookston, near Red Lake Reservation.

The State Supreme Court holds, in two cases decided yesterday, that the State has no jurisdiction to control the offices of the Executive Department of the Government in the performance of their official duty, and cannot acquire jurisdiction. Therefore the seventh article of that treaty is inoperative, till the acts of the State are obtained therefrom. Before the ceremony commenced, the hillsides overlooking the river were covered with ranks of colored people, over 500 converts of that race being immersed in the Appomattox River.
